1. Introduction

The Vancouver Fraser Port Authority’s (port authority) Land Use Plan is a policy document that provides a framework for the growth and development of federal port lands and waters for the next 15 to 20 years. It is similar to a municipal official community plan and identifies the types of uses that are appropriate within different areas of the port authority’s jurisdiction.

Over the past year, we have acquired several sites to protect trade-enabling industrial lands, ensuring the viability of these lands and waters for future port uses. These purchases include several sites across the Lower Mainland in the District of North Vancouver, City of Port Coquitlam, City of Delta, City of Richmond and City of Surrey.

We intend to designate these sites from their former municipal land use designations to a port authority land use designation.

A map of each site and the proposed redesignation is provided in Figure 1.

Table 1 provides additional detail about each site, including existing designation and proposed designation.

Between June 15 and August 15, 2018, we undertook a 60-day consultation period to provide information about the proposed Land Use Plan amendments and seek feedback from the community. The program included public and stakeholder notifications, notifications to Indigenous groups, and three public open houses – one each held in Delta, North Vancouver and Port Coquitlam.

2. Land Use Plan Amendment Process

The Canada Marine Act sets out the procedural requirements for amendments, which includes a responsibility to notify and consult the public and interested individuals on all substantive amendments. These proposed amendments to the Land Use Plan also require approval from our board of directors.

To satisfy the requirements of the process laid out in the Canada Marine Act, we undertook a 60-day consultation period to seek input from the public, Indigenous groups, and key stakeholders on the proposed amendments from June 15 to August 15, 2018. We reviewed and considered all feedback received during consultation and are preparing to make a recommendation to our board of directors to approve the proposed amendments to the Land Use Plan.

After a detailed review, it is anticipated that a decision will be made by the board of directors at an upcoming meeting. The public will be notified of the decision via newspaper advertisements, and public and stakeholder notification.

The 60-day consultation period was designed to engage the public, Indigenous groups, and stakeholders, and to seek input on the proposed Land Use Plan amendments. Our approach to consultation was a combination of high-tech and high-touch engagement activities to inform people about the proposed designations and provide opportunities to submit feedback about the proposed amendments.

Engagement activities included:

- Three public open houses, one each in Delta, North Vancouver and Port Coquitlam;
- A dedicated online information-sharing website on PortTalk (the port authority’s online engagement platform);
- A feedback form, available online and in-person at the open houses; and
- A dedicated email address and information phone line monitored during regular business hours by our staff.

Consultation materials, including information about the amendment and consultation processes, background information about the Land Use Plan, details about each of the proposed amendment sites, and a feedback form, were posted online for interested parties to review and submit feedback online or in hard copy by the consultation closing date of August 15, 2018.
3.1 Consultation Methods and Materials

We hosted a comprehensive consultation program to seek input on the proposed amendments and meet the consultation requirements of the Canada Marine Act. Three public open houses were held on:

- June 16, 2018 in Delta;
- June 27, 2018 in North Vancouver; and
- June 28, 2018 in Port Coquitlam.

The open houses were designed to encourage nearby residents and businesses, stakeholders and interested parties to learn about the proposed amendments and ask questions.

The public was notified of the proposed amendments and open houses through the following methods:

- Advertisements in six local newspapers;
- Notification letters were hand-delivered to adjacent residences and businesses near the amendment sites;
- Information including details about the open houses and the feedback form was posted to a project-specific page on PortTalk, the port authority’s online engagement hub;
- Information updates were sent out via social media; and
- Emails were sent out to interested parties who had subscribed via the Land Use Plan database.

All notifications were sent out and published by June 10, 2018.

Additional updates were provided throughout the process through social media to remind the public and other interested parties to attend the open houses and to submit their feedback prior to the end of the consultation period.

Details of each of the methods and materials used are summarized in the following sections.

Samples are provided in Appendix A.

3.1.1 Notification Letters

Notification letters providing notice of the proposed amendments and public open houses were sent to adjacent property owners, residents, businesses and port authority tenants within 500 metres of each proposed amendment site in Delta, Richmond, Surrey, Port Coquitlam and the District of North Vancouver. The letters were hand-delivered to approximately 1,592 recipients.

Maps of the notification areas are provided in Figures 3 through 9.

Notification letters were distributed to identified key stakeholders. Letters describing the proposed amendments at each of the sites were delivered to:

- Delta, Richmond and Surrey, May 31 - June 3, 2018; and
- Port Coquitlam and District of North Vancouver, June 7 - 10, 2018.

These letters included an invitation to attend the public open houses and to provide feedback through the online or print feedback forms.

Notification emails were also sent to Indigenous groups whose traditional territories overlap the land use plan amendment sites. These emails included the information described in Table 1 above, an invitation to attend the open houses and to provide feedback through the online or print feedback forms, as well as the opportunity to contact the port directly to discuss the proposed land use plan amendments. Indigenous groups were also provided with an overview map identifying the land use plan amendment sites.

3.1.2 Newspaper Advertisements

Newspaper advertisements were placed in six local newspapers on the following dates:

- North Delta Reporter and Richmond News on May 31;
- Delta Optimist and Surrey Now-Leader on June 1; and

A copy of the advertisements are available in Appendix A.

3.1.3 Social Media

Nine tweets were sent from the @portvancouver Twitter handle, notifying the public about the consultation period and open houses. The port authority’s Twitter account has approximately 11,900 followers.

One paid Facebook post was also published, informing the public about the amendments and opportunities for participation.

The social media outreach achieved 21,800 total impressions by the public, and 287 link clicks.

Samples of social media posts are included in Appendix A.

3.1.4 Online Engagement

A dedicated webpage for the Land Use Plan amendments was developed on PortTalk, the port authority’s online engagement portal. The PortTalk page was activated on May 31, 2018, and included general information about the amendments and how to participate in consultation activities. The page officially launched at the start of the consultation period on June 15, 2018.

The PortTalk page was designed as an information-sharing tool for the amendment process, including a description of the proposed amendments, an online feedback form, Q&A function, and consultation materials listed below:

- Land Use Plan Amendments Backgrounder;
- Feedback Form;
- Notice of Proposed Land Use Plan Amendments;
- Newspaper Advertisements;
- Public Open House Display Boards; and
- Vancouver Fraser Port Authority Land Use Plan.

Reference materials from previous consultation and amendments to the Land Use Plan are available for reference in the Document Library on PortTalk.

The Land Use Plan page on the port authority’s website was also updated with information about the proposed amendments and directed the public to the PortTalk page as a primary engagement tool and main source of information.

A copy of the PortTalk webpage content is provided in Appendix A.

3.1.5 Email Update

The Land Use Plan email database includes 1,091 subscribers. Notification emails were sent to all subscribers about the proposed amendments and public open houses on June 4, 2018.

The email included information about opportunities to participate in the consultation initiatives, open houses dates and how to provide feedback during the consultation period.

3.1.6 Media Advisory

A media advisory was sent to local media outlets on May 31, 2018. The advisory provided open house dates and directed the public to the PortTalk page for additional information.

A copy of the media advisory is provided in Appendix A.
3.1.7 Public Open Houses

Public open houses were held in the vicinity of the proposed amendment sites in the District of North Vancouver, Delta, and Port Coquitlam. Details of the open houses are listed below:

At each session, information about the proposed amendments was provided through display boards and reference materials. Port authority staff were in attendance to discuss the amendments and answer participants’ questions, and all participants were encouraged to provide additional feedback through the online or print survey as well.

Upon arriving, participants were provided consultation materials, including an information backgrounder and a feedback form to support informed discussions about the proposed Land Use Plan amendments. Additional brochures and pamphlets containing general information about the port authority, and copies of the Land Use Plan and the Canada Marine Act were made available for reference.

A total of nine people attended the three public open houses. Participants included nearby residents, business owners, and the general public.
4. Summary of Public, Indigenous, and Stakeholder Participation

During the 60-day consultation period, there were a total of 323 participant interactions:

- 301 PortTalk 2018 Land Use Plan page views, and two clarification questions were asked;
- Nine people attended the three public open houses;
- Two feedback forms were completed:
  - One feedback form was received at the District of North Vancouver open house;
  - One feedback form response was completed on PortTalk.
- Four written submissions received from members of the public;
- Four written submissions received from key stakeholders; and
- Three written submissions received from Indigenous Groups.

4.1 Written Submissions

4.1.1 Public Feedback

We received four submissions from members of the public with feedback on the amendment process.

The written submissions included questions around the clarification of land divested in the District of North Vancouver, and some expressed opposition to the proposed amendments to the Rail Expansion Lands and the Roberts Bank Water Lot & Causeway site in Delta due to their intended purpose.

The transaction provides an exceptional opportunity to support growing trade through the port and potential new terminal capacity at Roberts Bank. The land and water lots were acquired to support the Roberts Bank Terminal 2 project if it is approved. Alternatively, the lots may be used in the future for other port development or infrastructure. The port authority’s Land Use Plan does not have an “Agricultural” designation, and as such the “Special Study Area” designation was deemed most appropriate for Lot 3 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot &amp; Causeway site and the Rail Expansion Lands. The land and water lots at Roberts Bank represent a small portion of the overall land transaction. The lots were acquired to support the Roberts Bank Terminal 2 project if it is approved. Alternatively, the lots may be used in the future for other port development or infrastructure. Upon acquiring new properties, the port authority is required to incorporate them into the Land Use Plan by way of amendment and assign them a land use designation consistent with their intended use. 15 Vancouver Fraser Port Authority — Land Use Plan Amendments: Consultation Summary Report
4.1.2 Indigenous Groups’ Feedback

The port received responses from three Indigenous groups. Interested Indigenous groups did not share any concerns regarding the proposed amendments, and stated that they expected to be consulted on any works proposed within the land use plan amendment sites. The port responded to the Indigenous groups, confirming that the port would consult on any future works proposed within the sites that may have the potential to adversely impact their Aboriginal rights and interests.

4.1.3 Stakeholder Feedback

During stakeholder consultation, we received response letters from the City of Richmond, City of Surrey, City of Delta, and Metro Vancouver.

While generally in favour of the proposed amendments, the cities of Richmond and Surrey provided site-specific comments regarding the future development of sites within their respective jurisdictions. The City of Richmond noted potential impacts future development of the site may have on the transportation network, including parking. The City of Surrey noted that the proposed designation of the site within their jurisdiction is not consistent with its South Westminster Neighbourhood Community Plan (NCP). However, the City of Surrey intends to review the NCP in 2019 and will be considering the port authority’s land use objectives for the site. The intent of the City’s review is to maximize employment land designations in the area.

The port authority notes that any proposed future developments will be subject to the port authority's PER process. Under this process, we will assess proposed future development by reviewing potential impacts to the environment and communities. This includes consideration of potential traffic impacts, infrastructure impacts, and other potential implications for adjacent properties and any mitigation measures that may be appropriate to the development. At this time, no development is proposed on any of the sites.

The City of Delta made a number of comments regarding the Roberts Bank Water Lot & Causeway site, the Rail Expansion Lands, and the South Fraser Perimeter Road Lands. The City’s comments and our considerations are in the following table.

<tr>
<th>COMMENT</th>
<th>CONSIDERATION</th>
</tr>

<tr>
<td>The proposed change in designation of Lot 1a and 1b of the Roberts Bank Water Lot &amp; Causeway site from “Water” to “Port Terminal” is premature since the Roberts Bank Terminal 2 expansion project has yet to be approved.</td>
<td>Roberts Bank Water Lot &amp; Causeway lots 1a and 1b were part of a land transaction that involved the Government of Canada, the Province of B.C., and the port authority. This transaction provides an exceptional opportunity to support growing trade through the port and potential new terminal capacity at Roberts Bank. The water lots at Roberts Bank represent a small portion of the overall land transaction. These water lots were acquired to support the Roberts Bank Terminal 2 project if it is approved. Alternatively, the lots may be used in the future for other port development or infrastructure.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The “Port Terminal” designation proposed for Lot 1a and 1b is inconsistent with Delta’s Official Community Plan designation as “Water”.</td>
<td>The port authority believes this land use designation is most appropriate given their intended use and the fact that the adjacent water lots are already designated for “Port Terminal” use in the port authority’s Land Use Plan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Designating Lot 3 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot &amp; Causeway site and the Rail Expansion Lands to “Special Study Area” is not necessary since additional study to determine future use can be carried out under the current designation.</td>
<td>Upon acquiring new properties, the port authority incorporates them into the Land Use Plan by way of amendment and assigns them a land use designation consistent with their intended use. The Land Use Plan does not have an “Agricultural” designation, and as such the “Special Study Area” designation was deemed most appropriate for these sites. Further study, consultation and planning is required to determine their future use.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Delta sought clarification from the port authority regarding the status and protection of the Silda drainage channel located on Lot 2 of the South Fraser Perimeter Road Lands.</td>
<td>There is a statutory right of way registered on title that provides the Province of B.C. with access and maintenance rights of the ditch.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

GENERAL RESPONSE TO ALL COMMENTS

Future proposed development of the lands and waters identified in this year’s Land Use Plan amendment will require approval through the port authority’s PER process, which includes consultation requirements.

The City of Delta also noted the redesignation of Lot 2 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot & Causeway site to “Port Terminal” is consistent with Delta’s Official Community Plan (OCP), as is the redesignation of the South Fraser Perimeter Road Lands Lots 1 and 2 to “Industrial”.

17 Vancouver Fraser Port Authority — Land Use Plan Amendments: Consultation Summary Report
Metro Vancouver was supportive of the proposed amendment changes in the following areas: District of North Vancouver, Port Coquitlam, Delta and the two lots along the South Fraser Perimeter Road in Delta, as they align with their Metro Vancouver 2040 Regional Growth Strategy to protect the supply of industrial land for future use. Similarly, the Timberland and Olsen Road lots in Surrey were supported because the proposed amendment category of “Industrial” is consistent with Metro Vancouver 2040 and the existing municipal zoning.

Similar to the City of Delta, Metro Vancouver also noted concerns regarding the lots at the Roberts Bank Water Lot & Causeway site and the Rail Expansion Lands, which have been considered as described above.

4.2 Feedback Form Responses

Participants were encouraged to provide their input through a feedback form, which was available in person at each of the public open houses and online through PortTalk. There were four different feedback forms available to address all the proposed amendments.

Two feedback form responses were received by port authority staff during the consultation period. One from the District of North Vancouver open house, and one through PortTalk. Detailed responses for each question are listed below.

Participants were asked to provide comments and feedback on the proposed amendments for the North Vancouver site, which is located at 1441 Dominion Street, District of North Vancouver, B.C.

Vancouver Fraser Port Authority hosts public open houses on proposed Land Use Plan amendments – Port of Vancouver

About the Land Use Plan

The Vancouver Fraser Port Authority manages more than 16,000 hectares of water, more than 1,000 hectares of land and approximately 300 kilometres of shoreline within the Port of Vancouver. Our mandate, as set out in the Canada Marine Act, is to facilitate Canada’s trade objectives; ensuring goods are moved safely, while protecting the environment and considering local communities. In 2014, we adopted our updated Land Use Plan, which provides a framework for development and use of port lands and waters for the next 15 to 20 years.

Our Land Use Plan includes eight different land and water designations. These designations guide the development and management of the areas within the port lands and waters, and provide clarity on long-term development for all port lands. For more information about the land and water designations, see the Land Use Plan.

Proposed Land Use Plan Amendments

Over the past year, the port authority has purchased several sites to protect trade-enabling lands, ensuring the availability of these lands for future port uses. These purchases include seven sites across the Lower Mainland, including the District of North Vancouver, Port Coquitlam, Delta, Richmond and Surrey.

We now intend to redesignate these sites from their former municipal land use designations to a port authority Land Use Plan designation.

Details of the properties and proposed amendments are described in the table below.

29 Vancouver Fraser Port Authority — Land Use Plan Amendments: Consultation Summary Report
LUP Amendment Backgrounder

What is a Land Use Plan?

All Canada Port Authorities are required to have a Land Use Plan, which is a high level policy document and framework to guide the development of a port authority’s land and waters for the next 15 to 20 years. It is similar to a municipal official community plan and identifies the types of uses that are appropriate within different areas of the port authority’s jurisdiction.

The Vancouver Fraser Port Authority’s most recent Land Use Plan was adopted in 2014. It was developed in consultation with more than 1,000 people representing municipalities, Aboriginal groups, government agencies, environmental organizations, businesses, industry and members of the public.

What does the Land Use Plan include?

The Land Use Plan includes goals, policies and land use designations to guide planning in all areas across the port authority’s jurisdiction and provide clarity for neighbouring communities and stakeholders on long-term development for all federal lands managed by the port authority.

Our Land Use Plan includes eight different designations for land and water, as well as implementation measures to ensure we work towards identified goals.

Why is the Land Use Plan being amended?

From time to time, the port authority purchases new lands, or divests existing property, and these purchases and divestments require amendments to be made to our Land Use Plan, public consultation and approval from the port authority’s board of directors. For such amendments, the Canada Marine Act sets out procedural requirements for public notice, consultation and adoption by our board of directors.

Over the past year, we have acquired sites in the District of North Vancouver, Port Coquitlam, Delta, Richmond, and Surrey. The port has also divested land from the District of North Vancouver, Delta and Richmond. We are now required by the Canada Marine Act to add the newly acquired lands to our Land Use Plan by way of an amendment and give them a port authority land use designation. Similarly, the divested lands must be removed from our Land Use Plan, as they are no longer under port jurisdiction.

Why did the port authority buy this land?

The acquisitions were made to protect trade-enabling industrial lands, ensuring their future availability for port expansion and the warehouses and distribution centres that are needed to move consumer goods as our trade with Asia grows. This trade supports Canadian use. This land will continue to be reserved for rail corridor or related trade-enabling infrastructure.

Is any of this land agricultural land?

Yes, both Lot 3 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot and Causeway site and the Rail Expansion Lands are existing agricultural lands. Historically, the Rail Expansion Lands were reserved by the Province of British Columbia as “rail corridor” and were therefore intended for that use. This land will continue to be reserved for rail corridor or related trade-enabling infrastructure.

What is being amended?

Lot 3 and the Railway Expansion Lands are proposed to be designated as "Special Study Areas" in our Land Use Plan. This means the sites would require additional studies, consultation and planning to determine their future use through a Land Use Plan amendment. Their existing uses will be maintained in the interim.

What are the sites currently being used for?

The sites in the District of North Vancouver, Port Coquitlam and Richmond are currently being used for industrial purposes.

The Roberts Bank Water Lot and Causeway site in Delta is comprised of three lots of varying sizes. Lots 1a, 1b and lot 2 are currently vacant and are adjacent to the existing causeway. Lot 3 is currently being used for agriculture.

The Rail Expansion Lands in Delta are also currently being used for agriculture and have been reserved as a rail corridor by the Province of British Columbia to date.

The site in Surrey is currently being used as a location for outside storage and/or parking and the South Fraser Perimeter Road Lands in Delta are currently either vacant or used for parking.

What is the proposed designation for these new sites?

Using the terminology in our Land Use Plan, the sites in Surrey, Richmond, Port Coquitlam and the South Fraser Perimeter Road lands in Delta are proposed to be designated “Industrial”.

The "Industrial" designation specified by our Land Use Plan is primarily intended for light and heavy industrial activities such as warehousing, transloading facilities and ship repair to support port operations, transportation of goods and marine support services.

The site in the District of North Vancouver is proposed to be designated for “Port Terminal” use. Lots 1a, 1b and 2 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot and Causeway site in Delta would also be designated for “Port Terminal” use.

The “Port Terminal” designation specified by our Land Use Plan is primarily intended for deep-sea and marine terminals that handle a variety of commodities.

Lot 3 of the Roberts Bank Water Lot and Causeway sites and the Rail Expansion lands in Delta are proposed to be designated “Special Study Area”.

The "Special Study Area" designation specified by our Land Use Plan applies to sites that require additional study, consultation and planning to determine their future use through a Land Use Plan amendment. Until future analysis can be completed, the current use will remain unchanged.

How will the sites be used in the future?

Newly acquired lands are expected to be used for trade-enabling infrastructure and development. Any proposals for future development would be subject to the port authority’s Project and Environmental Review process and must conform to the uses permitted under the Land Use Plan.

How is the public being notified of the amendments to your Land Use Plan?

The procedure to add new land acquisitions to a Land Use Plan and designation of lands is set out in the Canada Marine Act, section 48. This section of the Act also includes the procedure for public consultation. The port authority is required to advertise in newspapers and host a public meeting at least 60 days prior to adopting the plan or making substantive amendments.

As part of this process, we are hosting three public open houses, one in the City of North Vancouver, one in Port Coquitlam and one in Delta. The port authority is also advertising in local papers, notifying neighbours in the surrounding area, and sending out notifications to municipalities and stakeholders.

How can I participate?
The public comment period runs from Friday, June 15 to Wednesday, August 15, 2018. We encourage you to learn about the proposed amendments on our website porttalk.ca/landuseplan.

You can also provide your feedback in person by attending one of the three public open houses, fill out a feedback form online, send us an email at landuseplan@portvancouver.com or call 604.665.9092.

Welcome

Vancouver Fraser Port Authority
Land Use Plan Amendment
Public Information Session
Our mandate is to facilitate Canada’s trade objectives, ensuring goods are moved safely, while protecting the environment and considering local communities.

Like all Canadian port authorities, the Vancouver Fraser Port Authority was established by the Government of Canada pursuant to the Canada Marine Act, and is accountable to the Federal Minister of Transport. We are responsible for managing federal port lands in the Port of Vancouver.

In fulfilling our mandate under the Canada Marine Act, we carry out a variety of duties:

- Safety and security of all land and waters, in collaboration with other agencies, using technology and land and water patrols.

- Environmental reviews and permitting for all projects and works on port lands under the Canada Marine Act (1998) and the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act, 2012.

- Planning future use of port lands, long-term economic forecasting, strategic plans and performance evaluation.

- Real estate management including negotiation of all tenant leases and purchase and sale of holdings.

- Transportation operations in collaboration with all terminal operators, railroads and shippers to ensure safe and efficient goods movement throughout port lands and waters.

- Infrastructure development to support growth and efficient operations, including collaboration with government and others on projects beyond port lands.

- Customer services with trade partners around the world, demonstrating the Port of Vancouver’s competitive advantage.

- Communication, engagement and collaboration with port stakeholders including local, provincial, federal and international governments, local communities, trade partners, Aboriginal groups and the general public.
The Vancouver Fraser Port Authority manages more than 16,000 hectares of water, more than 1,000 hectares of land and approximately 350 kilometres of shoreline within the Port of Vancouver.

We border 16 municipalities and intersect the asserted and established traditional territories and treaty lands of several Coast Salish First Nations.

We are home to 27 major marine cargo terminals, three Class 1 railroads, and a full range of facilities and services to the international shipping community.
What is the Land Use Plan?

- Communicates our long-term land use policy directions
- Guides land use and future growth opportunities
- Assists our tenants and customers in identifying areas to locate or expand
- Facilitates coordination of land use and transportation planning
- Provides neighbouring communities with greater clarity about activities and their uses that can occur on port authority lands and waters and how community interests will be considered
- Provides Aboriginal groups with clarity about land use and activities on port authority lands and waters adjacent to their reserves and within their asserted traditional territories
- Illustrates our ability to accommodate growth in a socially, environmentally and economically responsible way

The Land Use Plan provides a framework to manage growth and development on port lands and waters over the next 15 to 20 years.
Land and water designations

The Land Use Plan includes eight different land and water designations that guide the development and management of the areas within port lands and waters, and provide clarity on long-term development.

How is the Land Use Plan amended?

Two Types of Amendments

Minor Amendments may include wording revisions, technical updates, or minor designation boundary adjustments. These types of amendments do not require public consultation.

Major Amendments may include new land acquisitions or dispositions, changes to land use designations, or significant revisions to the Plan’s goals or policies. The Canada Marine Act sets out the procedural requirements for substantive or major amendments which includes public notification and consultation. These major amendments to the Land Use Plan also require approval from our board of directors.
Over the past year, we have acquired seven sites in the Lower Mainland in: District of North Vancouver, Port Coquitlam, Delta, Richmond and Surrey.

We propose to redesignate each site from their former municipal land use designation to a port authority Land Use Plan designation.

- District of North Vancouver: From “Industrial” to “Port Terminal”
- Port Coquitlam: From “Heavy Industrial” to “Industrial”
- Delta Roberts Bank:
  - Lots 1a and 1b from “Water” to “Port Terminal”
  - Lot 2 from “Transportation Terminal” to “Port Terminal”
  - Lot 3 from “Agricultural” to “Special Study Area”
- Delta Rail Expansion Lands: From “Agricultural” to “Special Study Area”
- Delta South Fraser Perimeter Road lands: From “Industrial” to “Industrial”
- Richmond: From “Industrial” to “Industrial”
- Surrey: From “Commercial” to “Industrial”

Land Use Plan Goal
The Vancouver Fraser Port Authority manages port growth and activity in support of Canada’s competitiveness and trade objectives while preparing for anticipated transitions in the global economy.

Objective
Ensure the availability of a land base within the region that is sufficient to support future port and port-related activities.

Policy Direction
Consider acquisition of sites to protect their availability for future port use, giving priority to lands that demonstrate ready access to shipping and/or transportation networks and close proximity to existing Vancouver Fraser Port Authority holdings.
